DID YOU KNOW?

Filipinos are at risk for high blood pressure. In fact, 3 out of 5 Filipinos have high blood pressure and 1 out of 5 Filipinos have pre-hypertension\(^1\).

| Pre-hypertension means your blood pressure is between 120/80 mmHg and 139/89 mmHg. This increases your risk for high blood pressure even more. |
| High blood pressure increases your risk for heart failure and stroke. |
| Reducing salt in your diet will help lower your risk for high blood pressure. The American Heart Association recommends to eat less than 1,500mg of salt per day. That is about 1/2 teaspoon of salt, 1 tablespoon of patis, or 1 tablespoon of bagoong. |

CONDIMENTS

- Condiments like patis are high in salt.
- Salt is used to enhance other flavors, so even sweet sauces like banana ketchup may be high in salt.

CANNED GOODS

- Canned goods like luncheon meat and sardines use salt for shelf life.
- Eat these less often and in small amounts.

MERIENDEA

- Crunchy goodies like butong pakwan and cornick are heavily salted.
- For smart snacking, have a handful and stick to only eating that amount.

SOUP AND FLAVOR MIXES

- Soup mixes used for dishes like sinigang have a lot of salt. An eighth of the pouch of sinigang base contains 810mg of salt.

INSTANT NOODLES

- Instant pancit canton and instant soups are laden with salt. They contain up to double your recommended salt intake.

PRESERVED FOODS

- A high amount of salt is used in items such as dilis, itlog na maaling, and tuyo. One ounce of tuyo contains 1,275mg of salt.
Here are more ways to help you stay away from the Salty Six.

| Condiments | Be wise with your condiments
- Atsara – pickled green papaya
- Bagoong – shrimp paste
- Banana ketchup
- Lechon sauce
- Patis – fish sauce
- Toyo - soy sauce |
| | Afraid your dishes will be bland if you use less? Add flavor with herbs and spices as well as low sodium condiments. Here are some Filipino pantry staples: bay leaves, ginger, peppercorns, and vinegar. |
| Canned Goods | When shopping…
- Canned fish – sardines in tomato sauce, mackerel
- Canned meats – corned beef, luncheon meat, Vienna sausage |
| | Look for low sodium versions of your favorite canned goods. |
| Merienda (Snacks) | Craving for something crunchy to snack on? Swap out the salty snacks for crunchy crudité such as carrot and celery sticks.
- Butong pakwan
- Chicharon
- Cornick
- Pan de Sal with cheese spread
- Salted nuts
- Saltine crackers
- Shing-a-ling
- Shrimp chips |
| | Have a handful of plain roasted nuts. They are better for you than the salted version. |
| Soup and Flavor Mixes | Control the salt in your sinigang
- Bouillon cubes
- Sinigang base |
| | Try using tamarind paste to add sourness instead of using sinigang flavor packets. |
| Instant Noodle Soups and Noodle Dishes | To cut the salt when you need chicken stock…
- Instant pancit
- Instant mami |
| | Find reduced sodium alternatives in your grocery store. |
| Preserved Foods | To reduce salt from instant noodles…
- Itlog na maalat - salted duck egg
- Dried fish – danggit, dilig, and tuyo |
| | Only use half the flavoring packet. |
| | Reduce the salt by switching up the ratios!
Dried fish such as dilig or tuyo and itlog na maalat are usually eaten with rice and ensaladang manga, a salad of cilantro, green mango, and tomato. Have double of the ensalada and half of the dried fish or itlog na maalat. |
